Children in the Nursery and Reception get off to a good start to their education. Teachers plan provision well so that children thrive in the nurturing environment.”
- Ofsted 2019

As a school we recognise the vital impact that parents and carers have on their child’s education.

We encourage you to be actively involved in your child’s school life, from volunteering in school to helping with homework and getting them in on time, it all makes a huge difference to their outcomes.

Throughout the year you will be invited into school for numerous reasons including: parents evenings, productions, music and sports events.

These are an excellent opportunity for us to learn more about your child and for you to see what goes on behind the scenes at Salmestone.

Inclusion:

“At Salmestone we work together to meet the holistic needs of each child”
- Mrs Cooper SENCO

We are fortunate enough to have fantastic facilities across the school including care suites, intervention areas, a sensory room, quiet zones and a dedicated play therapy room, along with wheelchair access on the ground floor.

Our family team can discuss any individual access or additional learning requirements your child may have. Please contact office@salmestone-tkat.org to talk to any of our special educational needs team.

‘Teachers plan a wide range of stimulating lessons which engage pupils in their learning’

Safeguarding:

At Salmestone we take the safety of our children very seriously. All members of staff, including temporary staff, volunteers and governors have an active part to play in protecting children from harm. As such they receive regular safeguarding training, hold current DBS certificates and follow the school’s procedures for dealing with any concerns.

Staff members at Salmestone will always act in the interests of the children in our care.
